Subject: RE: Caucus Comments on Chapter 1

I concur with the comments outlined in Nick's letter. The chart on page 2 (selected historical water portfolio categories/2030 sceario demands) is particularly problematic as I am unaware of any urban water agency in the state that uses the applied/depleted analysis as the basis for their water planning (remember, among our goals for the State Water Plan is that it be relevant, comprehensible and useful to the public).

I also appreciate the conversation that was held on Friday about the importance of DWR circulating draft documents sufficiently in advance of the meeting for the advisory committee to review so that we can continue to build consensus. Together, DWR and the Advisory Committee have done remarkable work to date, and it is essential that consensus-seeking process of which DWR is rightfully proud be honored.

Subject: Caucus Comments on Chapter 1

Attached are our comments and recommendations for Chapter 1.

After you have had a chance to digest our recommendations, could we have some idea of when the resultant changes to Chapter 1 will be posted on the web.

Thanks in advance for your consideration of our recommendations.
